

01AB7008 International Agricultural Research Methodology
Spring A 2019
Feedback Quiz 1 (Research Design and Types)
Total Points 10

Name:

ID:

1. What are the differences between exploratory, constructive and empirical researches? Can you identify in which category your research belongs?

2. What are the key points need to follow to manage your research?

3. Please list the research resources and point out which resource is very much challenging for your own research design and implementation

4. What do you understand by scientific method?

5. Please list down the steps of scientific method and identify which steps you are focusing at this moment in your research.

6. What are differences between independent and dependent variables?

7. Treatment is conducted on the dependent variables. (True/false)

8. A good research topic asks a clear, concise question. (True/false)

9. What are difference between population and sample. In the least square regression, which one is selected for the prediction of the model?

10. What are the differences between qualitative and quantitative methods?